

Each layer extends the contract below it; implementation infrastructure and services realise the layers but do not define them.